MESSAGE FROM THE DEAN

I am pleased to present Spring 2019 issue of Faculty of Business and Economics Newsletter. In this issue we highlight the successful work by faculty members and our students in 2018-19 academic year. Each one of us has worked hard to accomplish objectives set for ourselves and the Faculty. In the Dean's Office, we have started working on renewing FIBAA accreditation after securing one year extension. As part of our efforts to renew accreditation, we formed the Faculty of Business and Economics Advisory Board, which includes representatives from businesses in different industries, associations and non-governmental organizations. The Board will offer invaluable expertise and provide support to our Faculty by advising on strategies and programs. The Board will also play a key role in our collaboration strategy with businesses, non-governmental organizations and government institutions.

We have also focused on international collaborations with reputable and respected institutions. After signing a Memorandum of Understanding between Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznan (Poland) and EMU, developing a collaboration agreement between Department of Political Science and International Relations and Faculty of Political Science and Journalism have started.

In an attempt to increase admission in our Faculty, we hosted a pre-admission orientation in June for TRNC students who passed the EMU entrance exam.

Our Faculty was the venue for two successful conferences in Spring 2019.

The Banking and Finance Department organized the 4th ICBPF Conference in 2019 in collaboration with Montpellier Business School, France. 120 papers were submitted to ICBPF 2019 from 24 countries. Full text articles are published in Springer Proceedings in Business and Economics entitled Global Issues in Banking and Finance.

In June 2019, the Economics Department hosted the 11th International Conference on Euroasian Economies in collaboration with Beykent University, Turkey and Manas University, Kyrgyzstan.

The conference aims to bring together academicians and decision makers involved in research about Eurasian countries in a forum to discuss current and future economic and social issues of the region.

Eduniversal, the global ranking and rating agency specializing in higher education featured 3 master's programs of our Faculty amongst the top 200 postgraduate programs in a report they prepared for 2019. In the Eduniversal 2019 report, Energy Economics and Finance program, jointly offered by the Departments of Economics, and Banking and Finance was ranked 4th in Eurasia and the Middle East in the category of Energy and Natural Resources. In addition, the Banking and Finance postgraduate program was ranked 9th in Eurasia and the Middle East in the category of Corporate Finance. Finally, the Economics postgraduate program was ranked 10th in Eurasia and the Middle East in the category of Economics. Last but not least, ShanghaiRanking, an independent organisation which has been the official publisher of the Academic Ranking of World Universities since 2009, Eastern Mediterranean University appears within the 301-400 band in the Economics Category.

The achievements of our faculty, staff, and students have continually demonstrated our dedication to teaching, research and community service. I hope you enjoy reading this issue of FBE Newsletter and that your motivation will improve as you read about these success stories. As Dean, I aim to create an environment that would enable every member of our Faculty to fulfill their potential. With that goal in mind, I will continue working with the Department Chairs in ongoing efforts towards improving quality of education and working life at FBE. In closing, I thank you for your contributions to the success of our Faculty and wish you a wonderful and productive academic year.

SEMINARS

Political Science and International Relations Department organized three seminars this term

The seminar series started with the presentation of Prof. Dr. Levent Köker on 24 April 2019 with a presentation entitled:

“Populism, Authoritarianism or Dictatorship: Turkish Style Presidentialism in Perspective” at BEA5. Levent Köker has published a lot of articles in Turkish as well as in English including Modernization, Kemalism and Democracy (1990), Two Different Policies (2008) and Democracy, Criticism, and Turkey (2008). In 2007, Köker was part of a team led by Prof. Dr. Ergun Özbudun who prepared a new draft constitution in Turkey. He is currently working on the topics of establishing a constitution, democratic political theory, post-nation-state constitutionalism, and cosmopolitanism.

During the seminar, Köker elaborated Turkey switching to the Presidential System as a result of the April 2017 referendum, the “right-wing populism” of the new system and approaches that are important in supporting the development of democracy within the scope of “competitive authoritarianism” or “sectarian management.”

On 8 May 2019, Public Affairs Officer of the Embassy of the United States; Glen Davis gave a seminar entitled: “Deep State or Deep Debate: The Process of Making US Policy” at BEA5.

Glen Davis currently serves as the Public Affairs Officer at the U.S. Embassy in Nicosia. From 2013-15 he led the Political Team on the Afghanistan desk during the national elections of 2014 and the subsequent political crisis that led to the formation of the government of national unity. From 2011-13, he was the desk officer for public diplomacy in Afghanistan, the primary liaison between Washington among Sri Lankans in the aftermath of the long insurgency that ended in 2009. Before that, he was vice consul in London. Mr. Davis has received three individual Superior Honor Awards from the State Department and was the Council of American Ambassadors’ Katherine Davis Public Diplomacy Fellow for 2012-3. Before joining the Foreign Service in 2006, Mr. Davis enjoyed one career as a teacher of literature and a shorter one as a telecommunications consultant. Born and raised in Massachusetts, he speaks Greek, Italian, French, German, and Sinhala and reads Latin and Ancient Greek. He holds an honors degree in History and Literature from Harvard University, a Master’s degree in philosophy from St. John’s College in Annapolis, and one in English and Comparative Literature from the University of California at Irvine. He worked for the largest public diplomacy effort in the State Department. From 2009-11 he worked as Deputy PAO in Colombo, Sri Lanka, where, as a press officer and cultural attaché, he created several programs to foster reconciliation.

Prof. Dr. Mehmet Erginel gave a seminar on “The Defense of Justice in Plato’s Republic” Seminar on 15 May 2019 at BEA5.

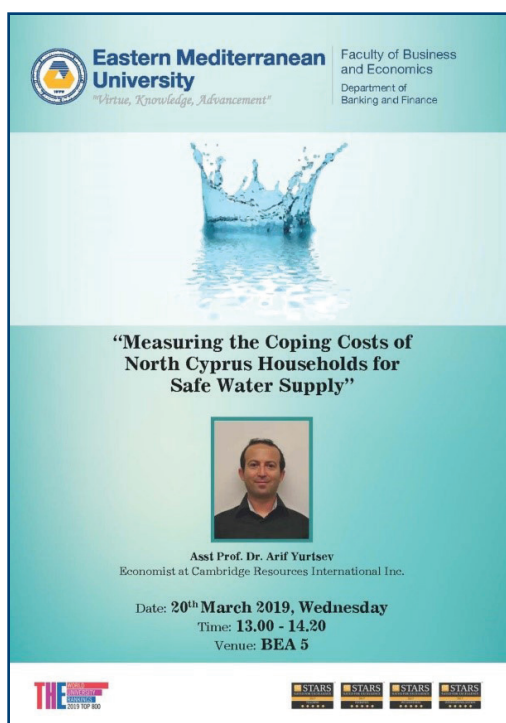

Mehmet M. Erginel completed his undergraduate education at Duke University with a major in Economics. By the time he graduated, it was clear that he had to look elsewhere for the answers to the questions he considered most important, as a result of which he turned to philosophy. He received his M.A. and Ph.D. in Philosophy at the University of Texas at Austin, specializing in ancient Greek philosophy. After completing his graduate studies in 2004, he returned home to Cyprus and has been working at the Eastern Mediterranean University since then.

Erginel’s research has focused on a variety of topics in the works of Plato and Aristotle, primarily in ethics and moral psychology but also metaphysics and epistemology. His articles have appeared in the leading journals in the field, including Oxford Studies in Ancient Philosophy, The Classical Quarterly, and the British Journal for the History of Philosophy. He has been a Visiting Research Fellow at Princeton University and a Visiting Scholar at the University of St Andrews. He has also taught at the Boğaziçi University Department of Philosophy as Visiting Faculty.
